Arts Organizations Partner for "Main Line Arts Sampler"

Students display their creative masks at Main Line Arts Center.

of Music, Pennsylvania Girlchoir and Keystone State Boychoir, Bryn Mawr Film Institute, Wolf Performing Arts Center, Pennsylvania Academy of Ballet, and Main Line Art Center. "There is a multitude of arts programs on the Main Line. Our community is privileged to have access to the rich and vibrant institutions that provide a great source of enrichment to our children," says Elena Berman of Nelly Berman School of Music. "Our area is proud to have highly devoted and talented people who dedicate their lives to creating and promoting their own passionate commitments to arts and education."

In fact, the arts institutions they have created provide so much variety that many families never get to experience every single institution.

However, there are many profound and sophisticated ideas that are expressed through different forms of art which reflect the human experience.

"Understanding how all the arts are integrated can only enhance children's practices of an individual one, and can give them greater ability to communicate their emotions and their understanding of the world," says Berman.

It is with these goals in mind that six institutions have partnered for one week this summer to offer children the opportunity to sample a variety of exceptional artistic programs on the Main Line. For information, call 610-520-0386 or email elena_berman@hotmail.com.

This summer, from Monday, June 21 through Saturday, June 26, young people ages 9 - 15 can sample six arts institutions through a program called "The Arts Sampler." The participating organizations are: Nelly Berman School

SUMMER ART CAMP OPEN HOUSE AT WAYNE ART CENTER

On Saturday, May 8, from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m., the Wayne Art Center invites the community to help 'kick-off' of another season of Summer Art Camp. This art-filled day is a great opportunity for families to meet inspiring summer camp teachers, get acquainted with the Wayne Art Center studios, and to register for classes. Get a sneak peek at what Summer Art Camp has to offer through a variety of demonstrations and activities. Take part in an art scavenger hunt, and make yourself a delicious snack in the new state-of-the-art kitchen facility. Summer Art Camp Open House is free and open to the public, though children must be accompanied by an adult. To register for summer camp classes, or for info, call 610-688-3553 ext. 200 or visit www.wayneart.org.

PAFA Offers Summer Arts Camps for Children

The Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts' (PAFA) Summer FUNDamentals Art Camps offer enriching, creative experiences for campers in the Academy's beautiful galleries, the art studios of the school, and around the city. Twenty-four different week-long fun and creative sessions are available beginning July 12 and running through August 20, 2010. Sessions are designed to appeal to all levels and interests of young artists, ages 6 - 15 years.

Camp programs include drawing, circus arts and performance, accessory and décor design, painting, cartoons and comics, doll making, animation, printmaking, mural painting, street art, filmmaking, sculpture, bookmaking, and puppetry. Artmaking experiences such as these provide excellent opportunities for children to explore and develop their creative and artistic spirit.

Each camp session runs for one week, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. A free pre-camp session is available each morning, 9 to 10 a.m. A post-camp session is available 3 to 5 p.m. (call for pricing). On Fridays at 2 p.m., families and friends are invited to a special exhibition and reception of the art projects created that week.

For camp listings, descriptions, and registration, visit <http://www.pafa.org/> camp or call the Education Department at 215-972-2061. The Academy is located at 118-128 N. Broad Street in Philadelphia.

American Adventure Camp at the National Constitution Center

Featuring Six Themed Sessions from June - August

Adventure awaits campers in the heart of Historic Philadelphia during the 2010 American Adventure Camp at the National Constitution Center. Six interactive, hands-on camp sessions provide children ages 6 - 13 with the opportunity to explore the world in new and creative ways, gain an understanding of community and teamwork, and have fun in the city where history was made. For information or to register, call 215-409-6700 or visit www.constitutioncenter.org/camp.

American Adventure Camp is designed to keep kids active in both mind and body all summer long. Each session integrates educational activities and fun-filled adventures to offer an exciting alternative to the traditional camp. Camp runs Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., with an optional extended day program from 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for an additional fee. Campers also have the option to partake in half-sessions, which are only one week in length.

The Center offers six distinctive, themed sessions from June through August: Colonial Kids II, Do as the Romans Do!, Kids' Corps, Hail to the Chief!, Rockin' with the Roosevelts, and Growing Up, American Style. Registration costs range from $225 to $550, and include activities, programs, field trips, a daily snack, drinks, camp t-shirt, and access to the museum's exhibits, including the award-winning, multimedia theater show "Freedom Rising." National Constitution Center members receive a 10% discount. All non-members who register before May 5, 2010, will save 5%.

The National Constitution Center is located at 525 Arch Street on Philadelphia's Independence Mall.
